OIL LAND SALE NETS 3 MILLION

The Alberta Government Land Lease sale held on Tuesday, July 22, brought in the largest total revenue into the government coffers of any sale in recent times insofar as the Pembina field is concerned.

Bidding was lively for all sections of the field where parcels were put up for lease, and particularly good in the section west of Drayton Valley, south of Easyford.

Almost 3 million were realized from the Pembina field sales; a total of $2,984,387, being taken as follows:

Biggest single price of the sale was the $410,540 paid by Canada Cities Service Petroleum Corporation for rights to a section of 640 acres near their present holdings. Cities Service was also the largest total purchaser of the field; spending $468,210, on 1230 acres a total of a little over $365 per acre.

Here is the way the bidding added up:

A total of about 30 rigs are at work in the field at present. Most of these are currently working in the Lodgepole and Cynthia areas.

The 1120 acres offered in the Keystone field across the Saskatchewan River, south-east of Drayton Valley, also a Gadium Sand deposit, brought a very good price per acre, with Northern Natural Gas Producing Co. paying a total of $436,418 for the four parcels.

PEMBINA PIPE LINES MAY BUILD GAS PIPE LINE TO COAST.

According to a report in Petroleum Week, a magazine for the oil industry, the movement of natural gas liquids from Western Canada to the Pacific Coast has been proposed by Foothills Products Pipe Line, Ltd., a new company which is under the sponsorship of Pembina Pipe Line Ltd.

The Foothills operation is a proposed $80-million line to make liquid byproducts from present and future Alberta gas fields available to the West Coast and world markets.

HOSPITAL TO HAVE OFFICIAL OPENING, AUGUST 6.

Final finishing touches are being applied to the Drayton Valley Municipal Hospital in readiness for the official opening which is planned for August 6.

The rooms are being equipped with furniture and equipment is being set up. Part of the nursing and other members of the staff are now at the hospital. A full nursing staff has been engaged and will be here for the opening.

On Saturday, July 26, the fine new Rex's Radio & T.V. will be officially opened in Drayton Valley.

KEN MASON'S COLUMN:

A couple of weeks ago we spotted an item in the government's weekly Farm Notes, which said beekeepers may be throwing away money when they clean the honey out of frames in the fall and discard the bee brood.

The larvae and pupae, Farm Notes continued, might be turned to profit in the form of a "palatable and nourishing food". This, we decided, required further investigation. So we called on Dr. Brian Hooking, head of the entomology department at the University of Alberta, and Fumio Matsumura, graduate student from Japan who is here on a scholarship doing insect research.

Mr. Matsumura, who thinks nothing of eating baby bees, has learned through scientific tests that they are equal to beefsteak in protein content and way ahead in vitamins A. and D.

As for the flavor, your fearless correspondent wasn't quite fearless enough to try some. But we learned that reactions are varied from those who have sampled the delicacy.

Unborn bees were deep fried and tasted by members of the home economics staff at the university and at the agriculture department. In most cases the taster found the flavor not unpleasant until she learned what she was eating. Then it lost its appeal.

The flavor was compared with everything from Rive Krispies and crushed nuts to pork cracklings. The only real objection was psychological. J.W. Edmunds, provincial apiculturist, was an exception. His reaction: "delectable".

Bee brood is already available in Alberta, imported in 31-ounce tins which sell for around $2. on specialty food counters. At that rate, baby bees are worth about $16,000 a ton. Alberta beekeepers destroy some 20 tons a year, and that adds up to $300,000.

If infant bees can be marketed as a luxury food for those who like rare and exotic morsels, it could provide a new source of revenue for farmers. An appealing name—maybe the French word for bees might put it over to those with sensitive stomachs. That, however is a problem for the advertising and marketing geniuses.

Actually, there's nothing really unusual about eating insects. Many primitive tribes make bugs an important part of their diet, and the nutritional value is high. For some reason, only civilized man's stomach turns somersaults at the prospect.

WHERE'S THE RAIN? Continued dry weather has damaged crops over a wide area of Alberta and has created the worst forest fire situation since the early summer of

Ken Mc... Column (continued) 1956.

Much of eastern Alberta and most of northern Alberta have been hard-hit by drought. Provincial agriculture official last week said crops are so far gone in some areas that rainfall now would be too late to do much good.

In southern Alberta, the moisture is adequate and better than average crops are in prospect. Western regions have had enough rainfall, along with the western part of the Peace River country.

There were 14 forest fires burning in Alberta last week, and only one was out of control, but as the dry weather continued the fire hazard in the forests was becoming explosive. Only in western regions was there enough moisture to reduce the hazard.

The provincial forestry branch hasn't regretted its decision to employ aircraft in the fight against forest fires. Last week the department had its own propeller-driven plane and helicopter in the air, as well as two leased aircraft and three chartered planes, for a total of seven craft ferrying men, equipment and supplies to trouble areas.

The worst situation was in the Pelican Mountains region north of Slave Lake, where 150 men were fighting a 600-acre fire raging through valuable timber.

In the extreme northwest part of the province last week, an Alberta forestry crew crossed the border in British Columbia to prevent a fire from spreading into this province.

MORE NOMINATIONS PENDING. The Social Credit party has announced dates for four more nominating conventions, in preparation for a general election expected next year.

A candidate for Bonneyville riding will be named August 19 at a meeting in Bonneyville; while a nominating convention for Glendon riding in the south will be held August 20 at Strathmore. The others will be at Andrew, August 12 for Willingham riding, and at Mayerthorpe on October 29 for Lac Ste. Anne riding.

So far, Social Credit has named only one candidate for the next election. The nominee is Marion Kelts, Consort farmer, who will run in Acadia-Coronation riding.

CUBS TO CAMP AUGUST 8-10

Attention of all Cubs in this area has been directed to the Cub Camp to be held August 8 to 10 at the cost of about $5.00 per boy.

All Cubs interested should be a Scout Hall at 7,00 p.m. Monday, July 28.

Cub leaders are Jack Tyler, Danny Wells, Alec Grant, Vern Bradford and Dunc. Carbellesier.

Don't blame the set!

Poor TV reception is not necessarily the fault of your set. Your picture can only be as good as your antenna — and your present antenna may not be delivering the goods. Remember, antennas take quite a beating from ice, wind, and rain. Furthermore, antennas of the past were not designed to meet today's reception problems. If your present antenna is two or more years old, it's probably not providing your set with a perfect signal.

Lions Buck McDonald and Max Kirkman went up to Edson July 10 to attend their noon meeting and play golf with Edson Lions who had challenged D.V. Lions to a game. So tough was the reputation of the D.V. golfers they could get only two Edsonites to go around the course with them. The two other brave souls were Dr. Lewis and Alfie Martin of Edson.

IN STORE TO OPEN.

early opening, probably the beginning of next week.

E. Mappin, from the Killam store has been in Drayton Valley several times looking for living quarters for himself, his wife and family of three children. If arrangements can be made Mr. Mappin will be transferred to this store, otherwise, Mr. Simpson, who is single, may stay to manage the store.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BATTERY TANK.

The very severe electrical storm that swept this area last Monday night left in its wake a battered storage tank in Home Oil, Drayton Valley Battery No. 2.

There were about 300 barrels of oil in the tank at the time the lightning struck, but it did not ignite and outside of the tank being bent and damaged no serious damage resulted.

TIMBER CRUISING FOR DAM SITE.

Mike Burke, Forest Ranger for this district has been 30 miles upstream on the Brazeau recently, cruising timber for the proposed cutting operations which will precede the building of the dam.

The party went in across country from Lodgepole by a special Scout Car, a form of bomber car which travels over the muskeg as easily as dry land. The Forestry Department had the Scout Cars specially built for such work.

According to reports from Mr. Burke the timber is a beautiful virgin stand, mostly spruce, untouched by fire. He said they also found the "Mother Lode" of elk there, too. They found a herd of about 50 elk in one spot.

The water in the Brazeau is quite high, and a good, continuous flow of water should be assured. Fishing for grayling was said to be excellent.

NEW MECHANICS TAKE OVER.

Centrefield Service Station Garage saw a change in ownership of the garage section of the service station recently when John Edgar and Allan Linquist came down from San Gudo to take over the shop.

Mr. Linquist's family, wife and five children will be down as soon as living accommodations can be arranged. Mr. Edgar's wife will remain in San Gudo for this winter since she is teaching school there.

NEW HEALTH UNIT NURSE.

Vera Andrews, who was the first Health Unit nurse when the office was first opened in Drayton Valley has recently been transferred to Peace River.

Mrs. Betty Lundberg will take over her duties in the Health Unit office.

RODEO EDITION. 1958

The picture above shows the bridge, taken from the east side of the Saskatchewan River, looking south into the lovely river flat, with the road curving to the west, toward a junction with the road to Drayton Valley and points north and west. This bridge connects the western and the eastern sections of the mighty Pembina field, and joins the many old-time communities on the east side of the river with those, for the most part newer communities, on the west side. The bridge is a part of Highway #57 which will make junction with Highway #2 south of Edmonton.
